Our Soloist

---

Michael Bochmann was born at Burford, Oxfordshire in 1953. He started to learn the violin at the age of seven at school and with his father. At twelve he won a county scholarship to study with Frederick Grinke in London with whom he has been since that time. In 1970 he was awarded an Associated Board Scholarship to go to the Royal Academy of Music. He first played with an orchestra at the age of 13 and has been giving Concerts in London and the provinces ever since. He won four prizes in his first year at the R.A.M., and more recently, was a finalist in the 1972 Carl Flesch International Competition, winning the Mayer Prize for the most outstanding British Competitor. In 1973 he took part in the Master Classes given by Yehudi Menuhin on Television.
