Members of Banbury Twinning Association and the delegation from Hennef, West Germany, were among a large and enthusiastic audience at Banbury Symphony Orchestra's final concert of the season in Stanbridge Hall on Saturday.

The programme commenced with Weber's overture "Oberon" and from the first magical horn-call to the last triumphant chord, it was a carefully thought-out reading, full of control and contrast.

Anthony Swift, who enjoys a fine reputation locally as both teacher and performer, was the ideal choice as soloist in Mozart's Piano Concerto in D minor. AGC
